1964 PANTHER

BENJAMIN E. MAYS
CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL
Pacolet Mills,
South Carolina

FOREWORD

"A strong root system furnishes nourishment for a flourishing tree."
Like a tree, a student branches out into all fields of endeavor. These formative high school years deeply influence the student's direction and growth. Surely we at Benjamin E. Mays School have been fortunate.

Later as you leaf through these pages and relive your high school days may this Pictorial Review grow in value and bring joyful reminiscence for all the years to come. May you remember and cherish the challenges, accomplishments and above all, the friends at Benjamin E. Mays.

We also wish to express our gratitude to Mr. A. H. Williams, Miss D. J. Taylor, Mrs. D. B. Duncan and Mr. C. R. Littlejohn, our Advisory Staff, without whose guidance this book would not have been a success.

We, the PANTHER STAFF, give to you, students and faculty the 1964 PANTHER.

DEDICATION

in honor of
MRS. ALBERTA RUFF DANIEL

Since you began teaching in that little school in Kelton, S. C. in 1919, you have continuously devoted yourself to the education of youth. It has been your constant effort to have each student develop to his fullest potential.

Receiving your A. B. degree from Benedict College, your further study at S. C. State College, Livingston College, and Winston-Salem Teachers College served to enhance the quality of your service to humanity. For thirty-seven years you have taught in the public schools of both North and South Carolina. During these years you have received numerous honors and awards. For twenty-two years you have worked in the church as a minister's wife, organizing both youth and adults. For forty-one years you have taught music to people of all ages. These are truly evident of your services to mankind.

Throughout your career of service and devotion you have worked quietly; you have worked unselfishly. Truly you have carved your name on hearts – those who love you and have been helped by you will remember you always.

For the gifts of yourself and your possessions, the entire student body and faculty dedicate the 1964 PANTHER to you with warmest affection and sincere appreciation. May it serve as a reminder that your altruism is not unnoticed.

PACOLET MILLS, S. C.

J. D. BLANDING, PRINCIPAL

To The Class of 1964:

As you continue on the roads of success in varied endeavors, you will cherish more and more the records of friends, events and activities compiled in this book. Within these covers is a record that is unique and of inestimable value to you. It is a record of your high school days at Benjamin E. Mays School – some of which were the most precious and important years of your life. Recorded within these covers of the 1964 PANTHER are reminders that have become an indispensable part of your personal history as well as the history of Benjamin E. Mays School. It is our hope that you will be able to reflect upon your experiences here as having supplied the key with which you will be able to open doors to higher achievements and greater undertakings.

As you strive to achieve a place of honor and respect in the eyes of your fellowmen, set your ideals high – for great ideals are like stars; you will not succeed in touching them with your hands, but like a seafaring man on the desert of waters, you choose them as your guides, and following them, you reach your destiny.

Through all of your endeavors and achievement of your goals, may this book always remind you of our prayers and best wishes for your continued success and happiness in future years.

Very truly yours,

John D. Blanding

Prophecy

It was mid July, 1980. I, Vivian D. Smith, Society Columnist for the London Herald Tribune, arranged for my vacation. After considering many possibilities I concluded that the United States would be the ideal place; after all I would like to renew old acquaintances.

I called the London Airport to make reservations, and was connected with the Director of Tours. I was astonished at the sound of the pleasant and familiar voice of Bernice Makupson. During our brief chat she informed me that Roger Smith had received the Rhodes Scholarship, and is pursuing courses of study leading to a Doctoral Degree in Political Science at Cambridge University.

I found it necessary to do some last minute shopping in Paris. To my surprise, who, but Erlean and Brenda Smith, the proud owners of "Bon Bon Che" Dress Shop, were doing an elaborate business in styling.

With all necessary arrangements having been made, I returned to London where I met John Buckson and Lamont Carpenter. They are Air Force Pilots stationed at Wethersfield Air Force Base. I boarded the luxurious jet airliner; destination, U. S. A. Soon I was awakened from a deep sleep, hearing the soft voice of Linda Oglesby, the stewardess, saying, "Will you please fasten your seat belts? We are about to land."

At the airport one of the efficient and courteous drivers of the J. B. Smith Jet Car Service took me to my temporary living quarters in Manhattan.

Later that evening I dined at Gary Russell's "Cabana Inn," an exclusive night club; I was treated most graciously. The next morning, on a visit to the Waldorf Astoria, I ran into Levator Logan in the lobby. She informed me that she is a Spanish and French interpreter at the U. N. She told me that the McCollum boys, Sterling and Dennis are partners-at-law, and that their offices are located on Madison Avenue.

After having a wonderful time in New York City I departed for Florida. As planned, I stopped in Pacolet, South Carolina to say hello to my old friends and classmates. I was surprised to learn that Charles McBeth is now Principal of our former Alma Mater, Benjamin E. Mays Consolidated School. While walking down main street I ran into Albert Jeter; he looked quite distinguished in his police uniform. I was happy to learn from him that the ultra-modern building across the street housed the offices of Thelma Prysock, a dentist and Deloris Smith, a pediatrician. It was certainly a rewarding experience to find my friends doing so well.

I resumed my trip to Florida. Upon my arrival in Miami I met Zera Teamer, Secretary to the Major, Bobby Hymes. She told me that Lloyd Black is employed by Kraft Corporation as a commercial artist.

A tour of Cape Kennedy was the highlight of my trip. Scientists there had perfected space travel to the point of exploring the moon at will. A celebration for Astronauts Jimmy Makupson and Paul Bates was in progress. Covering the event were reporters Modestine Dawkins and Pearl Smith.

It was truly evident that the words of encouragement from our faculty during our high school days were well taken by every member of our class.

A brief and comfortable trip across the Atlantic brought me safely back to the London Airport. The United States had afforded many experiences well worth remembering.

Business Administration Department

"Practice makes perfect", Mr. Owens gives instructions to James Hill during his advanced typing class. Here students learn those skills that prepare them for future jobs and personal endeavors.

Physical Education Department

Youth will never age if they keep themselves in health with exercise, and joyfulness in heart. Physical Education instructor is Mr. C. R. Littlejohn.

Social Studies Department

We live in the present, we dream of the future, but we learn eternal truths from the past.

This history class is the scene of intense concentration as Mr. Williams and his students consider problems of today.

Math Department

... There is no royal road to Geometry ...

Thought and concentration are two essentials as Mrs. Small gives instruction to students in her Geometry class.

Industrial Arts Department

Designs of the future are begun with untrained hand.

Mr. Shumate gives assistance to James Brown in his Mechanical Drawing Class.

Science Department

The theory of evolution is being studied by a class in Biology.

Mr. L. C. Digby is the head of this department.
