

More About July 4th - Album No. 7

Workers prepare the barbecue. The hogs were cooked all night over the pit that can be seen on the left side of the photo. The photos in this album were taken about 1949.

Area where the food was cooked. This is just outside the ballpark on the first base side. The pit in the ground where the hogs were cooked can be seen in the right center of the picture. The large cast iron pots are where the hash was cooked.

People getting their food. This was in the same general area where the food was cooked.

People sitting on a bench along the first base line. This is also on July 4th but in a different year judging by the tent in the background. There was no tent present in the photos 1 through 4 above. This picture was taken before the bleachers were built and the scoreboard moved to center field.

Girls involved in a competition at another July 4th celebration. This was around 1951 after lights were installed in the ballpark and the scoreboard moved to centerfield. A young James “Pee Wee” Lambert officiates the game. “Pee Wee” was the catcher for the Pacolet Trojans and was later a teacher and principal at Pacolet High School.

Boys involved in a favorite competition at another July 4th celebration. The pan held flour and coins. The object was to root into the pan with your face and pick up as many coins in your mouth as you could find. There is no record about how many coins were swallowed.

Competition was to unpack suitcases and put on women's clothes that were inside. Sam Hogan, one of the Pacolet Trojans, is on the left. Other two men are not identified. Good view of the press box on top of the grandstand.

Continuation of the dressing competition on page 8 from a slightly different angle.

Still more of the dressing competition.

Another dressing competition with different participants. These men are unidentified except that one of them is a member of the Pacolet Trojans baseball team.

This picture is related to the dressing competition in some way. Sam Hogan is on the left. The Trojan player in the center of the picture is Raymond "Red" Ellison, the power hitter for the team. Some of his towering home runs defy description to this day.
